Dear Charles:

I enclose herewith a letter which I have just received from a former student of mine who is now on Formosa. I enclose also a copy of the letter I have written in reply to his, but which I have not yet sent. I will hold it until I have your approval. I realize that this whole matter is a very sensitive one and I do not know exactly how to deal with it. I am hoping you will help me out in that respect.

The boy was a good student when he was here and, I believe, merits a reasonable answer to his questions, in so far as we can give it to him. If you think my letter is all right and let me know promptly, I will send it on. If there is something else you would rather have me do, I will be glad to change.

With kindest regards, I am,

Yours sincerely,
