1. The Working Group read and discussed the AEC staff paper on the National Academy of Science's Report on "The Biological Effects of Atomic Radiation" in order to establish what points should be highlighted in the State/USIA guidance.

2. It was noted that the British White Paper, which had been prepared by the U.K. Medical Research Council, had been made available to State and AEC. The only significant difference between the NAS Study and the U.K. Study was with respect to measured amounts of Strontium 90.
