Mr. Salisbury reported that an Atoms-for Peace exhibit would be on display in the Munitions Building in Washington during the week of June 11, 1956. He said that this display was one of three which would be shown throughout the U. S. Mr. Strauss said he believed that the number of such exhibits should, in the future, be increased. Mr. Thompson said that an expansion of this program was being planned.

Mr. Thompson then reviewed the observer program for Operation REDWING and said that the entire program had been quite successful. Mr. Strauss referred to the statistics on the news coverage for Operation REDWING and suggested issuance of a press release containing these statistics.
